

Helping hands

The non-profit People Helping People, an organization formed to help low income families repair their homes, met to give members an update on its progress and thank Farmers and Merchants Bank for its donation of $30,000 to the program.

From left, Mike Marks with the South Central Tennessee Development Agency, Columbia Police Chief Joseph Bishop, Betty Jo Daniel of Keep Maury County Beautiful, Jan Wright with People Helping People and Harvey Church of F&M hold a key symbolizing the cooperation between the city, businesses and residents in cleaning up Columbia. Staff photo by William Bowers

Story created Mar 16, 2010 - 14:55:33 EDT.